ABOUT THE WORKSHOP:

Internet of Things (IoT) is a new revolution of the Internet and a hot technology worldwide. Government, academia, and industry are involved in different aspects of research, implementation and business with IoT. IoT cuts across different application domain verticals ranging from civilian to defense sectors. These domains include agriculture, space, healthcare, manufacturing, construction, water, and mining, which are presently transitioning their legacy infrastructure to support IoT.

IoT is a network of physical devices, vehicles, home appliances, and other items embedded with electronics, software, sensors, actuators and network connectivity which are linked to create smart environments. It allows objects to be sensed and controlled remotely across existing network infrastructure. Also, it is creating opportunities for more direct integration of the physical world into computer-based systems, which results in improved efficiency and accuracy.

A device become a smart device is called IoT. Now a days there are many android and server based application. In this system, value of sensor (e.g. temperature sensor, motion sensor, accelerometer sensor etc.) will be shown on GUI or web server or android application through wireless communication and device will be controlled automatically. Device will be operated on Wi-Fi / GPRS. The workshop will give the platform to understand rudiments of IoT and Arduino/Raspberry Pi for IoT applications.

OBJECTIVES OF THE WORKSHOP:

The workshop has been designed with the following objectives:

- Learn the basics of Internet of Things and its applications.
- Exposure to various sub-fields and technology stacks of IoT.
- The basic usage of the Arduino environment for creating your own embedded projects at low cost.
- How to connect your Arduino to your Android phone.
- Provide thorough working knowledge of the Raspberry Pi Platform.
- Enable people to convert their IoT product idea into a working prototype.

TARGET GROUP:

The program is open to the faculty of all colleges, research scholars, students and other working professionals.
